

BOTH FACTIONS "STAND PAT" IN MINE WAGE FIGHT

Miners And Operators Wait
Gov. Pinchot's Plan
This Afternoon.

PINCHOT TO OFFER
PEACE PLAN TODAY

Owners Claim Price Must Be Boosted If Miners
Get Raise.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 29.—Miners and operators continued to "stand pat" on the hands they held, waiting to see the cards Gov. Gifford Pinchot will lay on the table this afternoon.

Both factions—the miners, headed by Phillip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers union, and the operators, led by Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the owners association, remained under pledges of confidence, made to the governor, who asked that nothing of what has transpired in the past two days be revealed.

It was learned, however, that the miners have so far entered into no agreement with Gov. Pinchot to back down from the stand they took on their original demands, the "check off," higher wages and the eight-hour day.

Ignorant Of Plan
The operators today professing ignorance of any plan which the governor may submit this afternoon, were known to be concerned chiefly over the question of coal costs.

Pinchot, it was learned at the state house, from sources close to the governor, intends to save the nation from paying an increased coal bill if possible.

Whatever peace plan he will offer will center around this point.
Warriner has stated that should the miners be granted a 20 per cent wage boost, the cost of coal would go up $2 a ton.

John L. Lewis, international president of the mine workers union, has termed this figure "propaganda," alleging that the operators are now in a position to absorb such a wage increase.

Experts Prepare Data
The governor today had before him the findings of experts he sent into the coal fields, and called from Washington. Whether these experts believe in the Warriner figure or the Lewis statement could not be learned.

W. Jett Lauck, nationally known statistical expert from Washington, conferred with Gov. Pinchot late in the night. Robert Bruce and William Raudenbush of the bureau of industrial research, New York, were also visitors to the executives' home.

Lauck in the previous coal strike, took the position the operators were in a position to absorb a 27 per cent wage increase without turning to the public for aid.

There and Raudenbush are reported to have joined Lauck in arguing against any plan which would increase coal costs to the public.

The governor, it was expected, would make public the findings of the experts, using this as one of the weapons by which he hopes to force both miner and operator to accept his peace program.

NAME INFIRMARY CHIEF THURSDAY

Eligible List Will Be Sent To County Commissioners Tonight.

Lisbon, Aug. 29.—The man who will succeed Lyle Harris as head of the county infirmaries likely will be picked tomorrow morning by the county commissioners.

Word from the civil service commission in Columbus, reaching here today, was to the effect that names of those eligible, following an examination Aug. 17, would be mailed to Lisbon tonight, arriving at Lisbon probably tomorrow morning.

Harris' resignation takes effect
Aug. 31, which would leave the county infirmaries without a head unless his successor is picked at once.

When the commissioners learned at their meeting Monday that the civil service body had not sent the names of eligible candidates, they instructed L. M. Johnson, commissioners' clerk, to keep them informed, promising to make a special trip to the county seat to select a superintendent.

Ten candidates took the examination for the job. They are: Harry Weikart, Washingtonville; Frank
Durbin, Hanoverton; W. O. Bower, East Rochester; Willis Burson, Salem; H. R. Brinker, Leetonia; and J.

served at noon.

Buses left the Lutheran church in Washingtonville at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday with the first contingent. Motor cars followed throughout the fore-pected to number practically every

The sports committee comprised Charles Weikart, Arthur Johnson,
Rev. H. A. Brandt and Rev. C. C.

AUTO SKIDS OFF ROAD, THREE HURT

Two women and a man from Cleveland were slightly injured and badly shaken up when the automobile in which they were riding skidded off the road on the Salem-Washington-ville rd. about 4 a. m. Wednesday, plunged into the ditch and overturned, on its side, throwing the three persons from the car.

Identity of the three occupants of the wrecked car could not be learned.
It is thought they were returning to Cleveland from an eastern trip and in the storm, lost control and the car rolled off the road.

Clothing of the two women was badly torn and they suffered from shock. The man, a negro chauffeur, escaped with scratches. The party returned to Cleveland from Salem Wednesday.

FAIRYLAND IS SETTING FOR PAGEANT OF PLAY

Huge Storybook Forms Background For Pretty Pageant
To Be Presented Thursday Night By 100 Children At Reilly Field For Playground Benefit.

The setting of the pageant, "A Pageant of Play," to be staged at Reilly field, Thursday night, is in Fairyland with a huge storybook in the background.

The pageant opens with a solo dance by the Spirit of the Woods, the part taken by Miss Jeannette Stolard. At her summons, from different directions, come other wood nymphs in dance. As their dance quiets down, Miss Elise Young, from Clarkedale, Miss, enters and dances a nature dance.

Next come the flower fairies.
The wood nymphs are: Dorothy Har-roff, Ida Mae Entriiken, Helen Chenoweth, Ellen Jackson, Louise Metz, and dance a dainty dance. As they baugh and Mary Louise Coles, who dance here and there among the flowers.

Finally as one butterfly settles down among the flowers a little girl, Mary Louise Miller, enters and chases the butterfly until it hides among the flowers. The big sister, Dorothy Taylor, next enters with two little children, Jane Metzger and Nancee Gibbs.
They are delighted to find themselves in fairyland and they dance and run among the flowers in glee. When they finish they sit down and close their eyes wishing for the fairy queen

STEAMER FOUNDERS, CREW OF SIXTY LOST

steamship Mylie, with a crew of 60, has foundered in a typhoon, said a Central News dispatch from Shanghai today. No trace of the crew has been found.

TRIP TO COUNTRY ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Woman, 60, Killed, Three Others Injured When
Train Hits Them.

Cleveland, Aug. 29.—A trip to the country by four members of a family to pick huckleberries ended in tragedy today when Mrs. Mary Rowe, 60, was instantly killed and a son, daughter and grandson seriously injured when struck by a B. & O. passenger train,
No. 47, enroute from Massillon to Cleveland.

The four were caught on a trestle at Linndale and thrown 75 feet into the Cuyahoga river below by the engine of the train.

The party are all residents of Cleveland, living at 8501 Dennison ave.
They were a short distance across the trestle when the engineer of the train sighted them as the train came around a bad curve. They huddled together between the tracks apparently without any plan of escape.

Engineer Tom Dike of Massillon applied the brakes but could not stop train and the four were hurled into the waters below.

The train was brought to a stop as the trestle was crossed. The engineer waded out into the shallow stream to bring the injured ashore.

Mrs. Rowe was dead but the three others, Bernard Rowe, 29; Julia Rowe, 33, and Robert, 3, a grandson, were able to wade ashore. They were badly cut and bruised and physicians said they would probably recover.

TRUCK STOLEN FROM BARN IS RECOVERED

A Ford truck belonging to J. B.
Richards, which was stolen from the barn of Leroy Morron, Fourth st and Ellsworth ave., Tuesday night, was recovered by Chief of Police T. W.
Thompson at noon Wednesday on East Fifth st. Chief Thompson expressed the belief that someone in search of a car in which to take a joy ride took the truck from the barn during the night, breaking the padlock and making a getaway without anyone in the neighborhood knowing that the truck had been taken.

LOYALTY IS URGED AS ESSENTIAL TO CONTROL OF POWER

Secretary Of Alliance "Y" Says Teamwork Will Control Power.

In the relationships of life we owe to one another that loyalty to cause, to leadership and to one another which is the balance of power in community, state and national life, Gregg Irwin, secretary of the Alliance Y. M. C. A.
and member of the Alliance Rotary club, told Salem Rotarians Tuesday afternoon at their luncheon meeting in the Elks home.

Mr. Irwin referred to the development of power in mechanical lines and declared the element of power has added an element of danger. The question of power and adequate control prophesies for us a development of the age, he said as he asserted that we must consider these two forces of power, and control in the life of a community.

One way we can help to keep the balance when power is created so fast is for us to adequately measure the value of team play or co-operation, Irwin continued. He gave as three essential elements in controlling power loyalty to a cause, loyalty to leadership and loyalty to one another.

"We must be loyal to the community and boost it," the speaker said.
"I haven't much use for the fellow who wishes he lived somewhere else or had some other job or belonged to some other church. We must hold steady and refrain from criticism, especially in this period of our national life."

In urging loyalty to leadership, the speaker said that we should find the best qualities in our leaders and be loyal to them. Even the man with the greatest amount of executive ability must win the loyalty of his employees to be a success, he said.

Development of a sense of respect for the other fellow by taking men for what they are and respecting them for what they are, was urged by Mr.
Irwin.

Rotarian R. A. Lamont, Jr., chairman of the day, introduced the speaker.

SAY FREE STATERS LEAD IN ELECTION

Dublin, Aug. 29.—Election returns counted up to noon today showed Free Staters leading by a big majority. The official result will not be proclaimed until tomorrow night.
At noon the returns showed 18 Free States candidates for the day elected against six Republicans, three farmers, four Independents and one Laborite.

Although it is assured that the Free State won a big victory, the Free State leaders are cautious in making claims. The constituencies where Republican sentiment was strongest have not been heard from.

Kevin O'Higgins of the Free State government is unwilling to predict a "complete" success, saying that many Free State sympathizers were intimidated and prevented from visiting the polls upon threats that their property would be destroyed.

Labor scored the initial gain, the first announcement being that Michael Cush, a Laborite, was elected.

Child, 4, Struck By Automobile

Newark, Aug. 29.—Edna Wallace, aged four years, was struck and so badly injured by an automobile driving on the highway in East Main st, here last evening that she died at the City hospital, to which place she was taken by Patterson, who was exonerated from blame by eye witnesses.

SAYS OHIO MINERS ARE SITTING TIGHT, WILL NOT STRIKE

President Lee Hall Puts At Rest Rumors Of Ohio
Walkout.

Columbus, Aug. 29.—Ohio miners are keenly interested but "sitting tight" as to the possible anthracite coal workers strike Sept. 1.

This declaration today by Lee Hall, president of the Ohio United Mine Workers, put at rest rumors that Ohio miners contemplated joining the Pennsylvania hard coal men in their proposed strike.

"Ohio mine workers are ready to lend any moral or financial support to get a reasonable settlement of the anthracite controversy, but under no circumstances will they violate their present contract, which expires March 31, 1924, to do it," Hall declared.

"Our men will comply to the letter with their contract and be governed by the laws and policies adopted by our organization. Of course our sympathies are with the anthracite miners.
They are fighting now for what we already have, the check off, full and complete recognition of the union."

Mr. Hall was of the opinion that if the miners were granted the raise they would cause no confusion in Ohio, as the wages for the anthracite workers have always been lower than those of the bituminous miners. He pointed out, however, that their work was generally more steady than in the Ohio mine fields.

While President Hall was nonecom-mittal as to the probability of a strike, he prophesied that in the case of a walkout, many hard coal men would undoubtedly drift over into Ohio for work.

"There are more miners now than there is work, but the boys are always willing to divide and share up," Hall declared.

FARM FOLKS POUR INTO FAIR GROUNDS

Wednesday Is Grange And Farm Bureau Day At State Fair.

Columbus, Aug. 29.—Farm folks poured into Columbus today to attend Grange and farm bureau day at the state fair in such a volume that promised a record breaking attendance at the annual Ohio exposition. Good weather, the first of the fair week, did much to swell the crowd.

Races today were scheduled to start at noon, the program having been augmented by the races postponed the first two days, on account of rain and the heavy track. All of Monday's races of Tuesday's, and the Secretary of State purse race will be run off today, making the largest program in the history of the fair.

Miss Catherine Campbell, Columbus, named "Miss America" or the most beautiful girl in the country at the Atlantic City pageant last year, together with the newly selected "Miss Columbus," 14-year-old Miss Genevieve Mambourg, will be honor guests at the fair today.

Forty And Eight To Meet In Wellsville

The Columbiana County 40 and 8 organization of the American Legion will meet Friday evening at Wells-ville.

Plans for the event include a parade over the principal streets of the town which will be followed by initiation and a business meeting. A smoker and program of entertainment will conclude the evening's program.

Minstrels Parade At Noon Wednesday

About 40 members of John W. Vogel's Gus Hill and George Evans
"Honey Boy Minstrels," which will show at the Grand theatre Wednesday night, paraded Salem streets at noon today. Led by the veteran show follower, Jim Mills, who carried the show banner, the band and chorus presented an imposing appearance. Clyde Chain, Salem man, was in charge of the parade.

Klan To Initiate At A Public Gathering

Cleveland, Aug. 29.—What is said to be the first initiation at a public gathering of the Ku Klux Klan in Northern Ohio, will take place at the Cuyahoga county fair at Chagrin Falls Sept. 5, officials of the Klan announced here today. Two hundred new members will be taken into the order.

RUSSIAN SOVIET URGES GERMAN RED REVOLUTION

Reds Adopt Resolution Urging Workers To Support It.

GERMANY'S PASSIVE RESISTANCE ENDS

British Glad As Stressman Says Attitude Is Changed.

Moscow, Aug. 29.—The Russian Soviet unanimously adopted a resolution today appealing to the army and workers to support a Red revolution in Germany by donations, "and otherwise."

The resolution says:
"If Germany is controlled by France, it will mean a new campaign against Russia."

The document appeals to the workers in all countries throughout the world to mobilize their strength and hammer interference with Germany's home affairs. All the propaganda committees of the international labor unions are summoned into a special conference to consider the German situation.

First Step In Uprising
The Third Internationale is appealing to the Second Internationale to join in conference in Moscow not later than September 10 to organize aid for the German Communists.

This is the first active step on the part of the Russians to participate a Red uprising in Germany. Heretofore the assistance has been in the nature of moral support.

Officials of the Third Internationale said they desired to aid German workers to take measures to prevent the looming capitalist war.

The appeal asserts that the crisis is approaching swiftly.

End Passive Resistance

London, Aug. 29.—British officials today hailed with intense relief a report from Berlin that the German government has decided to give up passive resistance in the Ruhr, thus removing the chief obstacle in the way of a reparations settlement with France.

It is understood that the German decision to cease passive resistance was reached after a conference between Chancellor Stresemann and leaders of the Rhineland industrialists, including Hugo Stinnes.

It had been reported previously that the British were advising the Germans to give up the policy of passive resistance, which was the outstanding feature of the late Cuno government.

The Germans are hopeful that the French will now lift the embargo upon traffic between occupied and unoccupied Germany.

Treasury experts who studied the Belgian reparations note found great variance between the communication and the proposals made by London.

CONDITION OF CITY WATER IMPROVED

Boiling Not Necessary Now Says Health Commissioner Church.

Salem residents need not boil the city water now as a precautionary measure.

Analysis of tests taken this week show that the condition of the water has improved to such an extent, through the use of more chlorine, that it is now safe to drink without boiling, according to Health Commissioner, T.
T. Church. The latest tests reveal the presence of no gas or bacteria.

Daily tests are now being taken and the health department will keep the public informed of any changes in the condition of the water.

In a letter to Service Director J. B.
Bristol, W. H. Dittus, chief engineer of the state department of health, advises that examination of samples of Salem city water show a satisfactory sanitary quality.

Walter Taylor Sails Next Week For China

Walter A. Taylor, formerly of this city and recently of North Canton, has accepted a position with the Bercamini Building Co. of Hankow, China, and will leave for his new post next week.

Mr. Taylor, who visited friends in Salem Wednesday, stated that he will assist Mr. Bercamini in building churches and schools for the Episcopal church in southern China.

Taylor will go to China through Europe, traveling over that continent for a month and then go through the Suez Canal and Red Sea to Singapore where he will see Philip Mayer, also of Salem, and then go on to China.

A Patriarch Of Business

MEN can live long and well if they wish to live long and well. A case in point is John A. Stewart, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Trust company, who a few days ago celebrated his one hundred and first birthday.

Think of it—doing business at the age of 101! Ever since 1853 Mr. Stewart was president of the bank, except for two years during the Civil war, when he responded to President Lincoln's request to serve the government as assistant treasurer of the United States. Since 1902 he has been chairman of the board.

The great procession has not passed this man by. He still is said to be in "fine shape." He is known as the patriarch of the American banking fraternity. Until a few years ago he was a director of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. On the day of the Wall st. explosion he was in his office at his desk, and it is said of him that he was the only calm man in the office during that exciting time.

All his life this man has been a worker, has been busy in a field which keeps energy—energy of brain and body—but he still is "going strong," according to his friends, with the burden of a century resting upon his shoulders.

How did he manage to live, and to live usefully and happily, through so many strenuous years? He tells it all in one word—temperance. He was temperate in his work and in his play, in his eating and in his drinking; he attained serenity of mind; he refused to be touched by the corroding cares of business, by the sordid obstacles which beset him through his long career. At 101 he is still a hale man, intimate with the tides of politics and business and the social life.

Look about you—there are plenty of men not half so old as John A. Stewart who are awaiting the offices of the undertaker, who sucked the orange of life quite dry. It is their own fault. There is a Fountain of Youth. Ponce de Leon did not search in the right place. It was very near at hand, even in his day, but he did not know it. John A. Stewart discovered it and still drinks of its revivifying waters.

Despite threatening clouds the Buckeye Engine company employees picnic at Silver Lake took one of the largest crowds out of Salem this morning that ever left the city for such an outing.

That Body of Yours

A PROPER FITTING CORSET OR BELT

In a former article I spoke about corsets for everybody. I had in mind of course that nature had provided you with muscles made of muscle. These muscles—the abdominal muscles—run up and down, across and obliquely over the abdomen, holding all your organs in place and permitting you to bend.

Now I am quite aware of the fact that if you are a woman and have always worn corsets, that it will take more than anything I can write to have you try to do without them.

Well, why do I come back to the subject?

Just because while the wearing of some support across the abdomen may be necessary, to have your lungs compressed in order to do this is not necessary. In fact it is a fair to the rest of the body. You see my point.

If in order to secure support at the waist you wear a corset that is tight about the chest, your lungs, heart and liver, your vital organs, are greatly compressed and they perform only a part of their work.

You get out of breath easily because the heart and lungs are not permitted to expand fully. You like wise become constipated because the liver does not permit an easy passage of bile into intestine.

Now as you are going to wear corsets anyway what is my suggestion? That you get a corset that fits you snugly about the hip bones, below, and loosely about the upper or chest part. By lacing it from below you can get the pressure on the lower part of the abdomen.

In getting fitted for a corset, always stand erect and take in a long breath. This makes the waist smaller and enlarges the chest, and you'll get a corset that will have the proper action, that is support your abdomen and yet give your liver, lungs, and heart a chance to work properly.

Perhaps you are a man and need some abdominal support. The same advice applies, have your belt very snug about the hip bones, and draw in a long breath when applying the belt.

While the style of corset at present in vogue is fortunately not as high as formerly, still the "loose" fit at the top is still necessary. Remember abdominal exercises such as bending and twisting and abdominal massage will develop your natural "muscle" corsets.

Alumni Will Boost Athletics At Lisbon

Lisbon, Aug. 29.—An attempt will be made to form a Lisbon High school alumni association here for the purpose of "putting the school" on the map" as athletic contender for county championships.

Lisbon used to lead the county and was considered a big card at any game with any of the county teams. The past two years, however, have shown the local school up as possibly the weakest in the county. Football, track, and basketball athletes wearing the Lisbon letters are occupying second, third and fourth places. The alumni association, if formed, will be for the purpose of injecting pep into the athletics who represent this school.

COUNTY PROPOSES TO CUT HILL AND SHORTEN BRIDGE

Ravine Spanned By Canton Bridge Would Be Filled, Grade Cut.

Lisbon, Aug. 29.—Columbiana county will save several hundred thousand dollars in road and bridge maintenance on a short stretch of the Lincoln highway west of here if the commissioners go through with a sweeping improvement plan now under consideration.

Under the plan, broached on an inspection trip Monday, a grade for six-tenths of a mile would be cut from 11 to 8 or 7 per cent and the dirt used to fill a deep ravine spanned by the old Canton bridge, would cut the length of the bridge in half.

Thus at one stroke, although the immediate expense would be formidable, several lasting economies would be affected, according to Commissioners Kerr, McNicol and Berg, all of whom favor taking immediate action in order to complete the project by the time Kane Bros. finish their construction job on the Lisbon highway between Lisbon and Hanoverton.

Bridge Upkeep Expensive
The ravine just outside the city has been spanned by the old bridge for many years. Several years ago it was extended by the addition of a new span. As it stands the bridge, it is estimated, has cost the county upwards of $300,000 and today it is in need of resurfacing. H. C. Armstrong, contractor and former county engineer, has a contract to resurface and repair the bridge and has been waiting until Kane Bros. were through using the bridge for hauling materials before beginning work on the job.

As time goes on it is feared that the upkeep of the old bridge will grow and that sooner or later it will have to be replaced by a structure more adapted to present-day traffic. It costs approximately $12,000 to resurface the bridge as it stands.

Putting upward from the bridge toward Hanoverton, for six-tenths of a mile, the road is unimproved. It is an 11 per cent grade, because of which no state or federal aid in its improvement is available.

"This hill could be avoided by skirting it through the valley, a plan which the commissioners considered while on their trip, but this was discarded as too costly and unsatisfactory due to the fact that it would involve buying a new right-of-way, moving back a residence in its path, elimination of two unnecessary curves and antiquity of suitable drainage.

Would Reduce Grade
While the work of cutting into the hillside 15 feet for nearly half a mile amounts as a prodigious undertaking, it is a feasible one from an engineering standpoint and would result in reducing the grade to eight and perhaps seven per cent. This would permit the state to assist the county in improving the road and would afford the county state maintenance funds in the future.

The huge deposits of earth and rock dug out of the hillside by the steam shovel could be dumped into the ravine at that end of the bridge and make unnecessary fully half the bridge, which is now more than 100 feet long, materially reducing future upkeep of the bridge.

County Engineer Lloyd C. Kirk, who was with the commissioners, was requested to prepare estimates on what the job would cost.

"Whatever it costs," commented Chairman John Kerr, "it strikes me it would be an economy in the end. In 10 years it would almost pay for its-elf, while the future would mean further savings."

WATKINS CLAIMS MAYOR REESE LIED

Deposed Police Chief Says Reese Invented Story To Save Own Hide.

Youngstown, Aug. 29.—James Watkins, removed as chief of police by Gov. onahay, denounced Mayor William G. Reese today as a "liar" for making implications during his trial before Gov. Donahay at Columbus.

"You can say further that Mayor Reese lied," Watkins told newspapermen "when he said that I warned him about a 'frame up.' He and I never had any conversation along these lines. He, in testifying when called in my case, stated that he had never given an order that was not promptly executed and then to save his own hide, he invented the story about a 'frame up.'"

Plans To Fight
"Furthermore, I don't believe and never have said I believed that David Scott (former safety director now serving a penitentiary sentence for accepting a bribe) was 'framed.' A man cannot be 'framed' unless he is convicted of something of which he is not guilty and Scott was caught with the goods. No conversation such as he related ever took place."

Watkins has engaged Edmund H. Moore, former Democratic national committeeman, as his principal counsel in the fight he said he would make for reinstatement. Other attorneys who will be associated with Moore are his partners, Judge W. P. Barnum, G. P. Hammond and former State Attorney General Timothy S. Hogan. Moore, who has been in Europe, sailed today and is expected home within a week.

Massillon Man Shot By Thugs

Massillon, Aug. 29.—His body pierced by a bullet, Louis Viseloff, of this city, early this morning clung desperately to life and out-ran two negro bandits who had held him up. Viseloff was held up and shot.
The bullet entered his left side and came out his back. The wounded man started running, the negroes in pursuit. For half a mile he managed to distance his assailants.
His life was probably saved for the minute by a taxi driver, who happened along and seeing the man's plight, picked him up and brought him to a hospital here.

BAKER WILL MAKE NATIONS LEAGUE CONVENTION ISSUE

Washington, Aug. 29.—Democratic leaders who have been pussyfooting on the league of nations issue were given a rude shock by the declaration of former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland, as he sailed from New York for Europe on the steamer Homeric.
Disclaiming any intention of becoming a presidential candidate himself, the former secretary of war made this significant announcement to newspaper men:
"I shall go before the next Democratic convention, however, and advocate the league of nations and the world court. I shall do this with my party's consent, if possible, and without it, if necessary."
Mr. Baker's declaration is a notice to party leaders throughout the country that their worst fears are to be realized and that the league of nations is to be revived as an issue in the Democratic National convention next year. The majority of them have been hoping that the issue, which is said to have contributed to the overwhelming defeat of the Democratic presidential nominee in 1920, would be permitted to die as a partisan issue in the 1924 campaign.
National headquarters of the Democratic party has been silent on this issue for several months.

Ward Murder Trial Expected To Be Sensational

Sensations are expected when Walter S. Ward of New York and New Rochelle, multi-millionaire baker, is placed on trial in White Plains, N. Y., before Justice Robert Wagner, charged with the murder of Clarence Peters. The trial is scheduled to begin Sept. 4.

Peters, a former marine, was discharged from a southern training camp only a few days before his body was found on a lonely road in Westchester county.

Ward later surrendered and said he killed Peters in a revolver duel that followed a plot to blackmail him. He declined to tell what the blackmail plot was.

One indictment charging murder was dismissed, but Gov. A. Smith ordered a special grand jury to take up the case, and Ward was re-indicted.

Much bitterness was displayed in an effort to keep from the grand jury cables that passed between Ralph Ward, Walter Ward's brother, and George Ward, their father, in which Ralph asked the father's permission to give large sums to Walter, but which the father refused if the money was to go for blackmail.

The elder Ward has kept out of the jurisdiction of the courts ever since. Attorney General Carl Sherman is scheduled to try the case himself. Mrs. Walter S. Ward has stuck loyally by her husband.

sprite, Roberta Reese, who comes in turning hand springs and somersaults.

The game sprite directs the folk dances and games of the two groups of children when he summons. These groups are: Freda Keese, Mary Baxter, Fred Klamer, John Stewart, Bobby Anderson, Jack Mullins, James West, Shirley Ward, Dorothy Hillard, Bernice Hillard, Charlotte May King, Harold J. Heiman, Elizabeth Rutter, Helen Powers, Mary Powers and Jimmie Anderson.

Group two: Louise Smith, Margaret Alice Steel, Margaret Mullett, Emily Mullett, Grace Dyball, Adelaide Dyball, Mary Hunt, Evelyn Price, Maggie Coc, Mary Louise Layden, Lois Clay, Jane Hunt, Inez Barley, Mary Alice Bast, Ada Hanna, Helen Kahle, Olive Moore, Ida Drenzio and Margaret Rich.

Following the games the Spirit of Play introduced the story book princess who enters in flowing robes and crown.

As she raises her wand th mother goose story book is opened and old mother goose herself steps from the pages. She goes back into the book again and the story book princess introduces many loved and familiar characters who step from the book in their turn and either in pantomime or dance portray the characters they represent.

Little Red Ridinghood, the wolf and Cinderella and the prince, Little Bo-Peep, Jack Horner and Goldilocks and the three bears, Old King Cole and his fiddlers three, Little Miss Muffett, Briar Rose and Puss-in-Boots, Rock A Bye Baby and Topsy and little black Sambo in their famous clog dance all are introduced.

At the close of the story book characters, the Spirit of Toyland, Miss Leah Miller, enters and dances a solo dance. At the end of her dance all enter and moving forward sing the finale chorus.

Tickets for the pageant are on sale at Campbell's book store and Treat's drug store.

EDITORS OF OHIO SEE COOLIDGE WIN 1924 NOMINATION

Ohio's Support Assured If He Measures Up To His Responsibilities.

Cleveland, Aug. 29.—If Calvin Coolidge "displays Cleveland firmness," and should he "measure up to the full responsibilities of an executive," then he will receive the support of Ohio, the home state of the late President Harding, at the Republican convention next year, according to views expressed by editors of some 70 odd Ohio newspapers.

The same elements which accorded loyal support to the late president are willing to go along with the new chief executive, if the next ten months disclose his ability to fill the shoes of the departed leader.

While support of Coolidge is not unanimous, it is overwhelming, although editors queried realized that it was early to make a definite choice. The manner in which he handles the real situation, the agricultural revolt, his attitude towards the world court, and his ability to lead the slender Republican majority in house and senate, it was conceded, would have a large bearing upon the vote of Ohio in the next national convention.

Sen. Hiram Johnson, now regarded as a certain candidate, is counted by Ohio editors as the most probable opponent of the president in the next year's primary. Six editors, out of those polled, declared him the strongest candidate of the party regardless of events in Washington.

Sen. William E. Borah, of Idaho, appealed to two as the best choice of the party, while Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, and Gen. Charles G. Dawes, of "Hell and Maria" fame, each received one vote.

Sen. Simon D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, on "an out and out Volstead platform," was the second choice of two editors. Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon each were mentioned as available by one editor, in case President Coolidge failed to receive the nomination. Hughes was favored as "having a broader knowledge of national and international problems than any other American," while in the opinion of another editor, Mellon is "more familiar with business conditions and could give the greatest business administration the country has ever known."

President Coolidge was considered the "most available" candidate by other editors queried as to the Republican choice.

Shoe Thrift Week
Aug. 27~Sept. 1
-have 'em repaired-

LOOK in your closet today for your cast-offs. If the uppers are good we can make the shoes almost as good as new at a nominal cost.

Mothers should see that their children's shoes are sent to the repairman this week, so that they will be ready for school wear.

This week has been set apart nationally to further, and stress the value of good shoe repairing.

We have on display this week many examples of work turned out in our own department, showing how shoes may be rebuilt and restored to their former usefulness.

You'd be surprised at the service that still remains in many a pair of shoes that have been thrown away as being of no more good.

To those not acquainted with the goodness of our Repair Department, we invite this week especially to let us show the high ideals of workmanship upon which we have successfully retained this service.

You don't throw away your watch because the main spring breaks.

FANS PLACE SHORT ODDS ON DEMPSEY

Betting Ranges From 2 To 1 To 3 To 1 On Champ To Win From Firpo.

New York, Aug. 29.—Intermittent betting on the outcome of the Dempsey-Firpo business makes the champion a favorite at uncommonly short odds, ranging from 2 to 1 to 3 to 1.

These are remarkable for the fact that these present a sharp variance between public and expert opinion. We doubt if gentlemen of the press would care for any part of Firpo at 5 to 1. The public, seemingly, is pleased to think otherwise.

For example, the firm of W. L. Darnell & Co., Broad st., betting commissions, has announced that it has placed $2,000 on the Latin against $5,000 worth of Dempsey money. That means that the odds were 2½ to 1 at the moment that the transaction was completed. Smaller commissions at odds of 2 to 1 have been placed also, the firm announced.

The same source of information is authority for the statement that it holds $5,000 to be placed on Dempsey against $2,500 and that Firpo men have tossed a matter of $3,000 into the pot to be held until the odds reach 3 to 1.

Expert opinion can prove in a very few moments that the Argentine man eater has no more chance than a bed-time story at a smoker. It will prove that he does everything wrong for the system he follows in training on down to his taste in neckties. Public opinion merely replies that it is good business to shoot one dollar against two or three that a puncher who goes in there with a swing will win.

There seems to be something about Firpo that causes people to accept him as a possible conqueror of all mankind. Women, in particular, are convinced that he will win. They can advance no plausible reason for the opinion but appear to regard him as a man of destiny.

At any rate it is now apparent that the layman hardly concurs with the belief of those identified with affairs of the fist, to-wit, that it will be a short fight and a merry one. Tex Rickard already has sufficient applications on hand to dispose of his choice seats many times over and when the box offices are thrown open to the small timers with the five dollar complex, a sell out apparently is inevitable.

When Is It A Fish?

It happened at a Sunday evening lunch, in the home of a six-year-old Indianapolis boy.

The center of attraction at this particular lunch was a plate of sardines, and the father of the youth offered to serve him, saying: "Miner Evans, will you have a sardine?"

"What's a sardine?"

"Why, a sardine is just a fish, and you like fish."

Miner Evans had spent his last summer at a Lake Michigan resort and felt competent to pass on questions concerning fish and fishing, so he drew back in lofty disdain and emphatically declared: "You can't fool me, that's not fish, that's bait."

D. W. Reeder, carpenter and painter, 42 Walnut st., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills were what I took some years ago for weak kidneys and backache. Sharp pains shot through my back and kidneys that bothered me all the time. I couldn't bend without taking hold of something to help me to get up. The pains were so sharp, it made me dizzy and I couldn't see for a time. My kidneys were weak and irregular and knowing that Doan's Kidney Pills were a good medicine, I used them. After taking the second box, my kidneys started to work in the proper manner and the other symptoms left. I haven't needed a kidney medicine since."

Railroad Progress In the United States

THE GREAT era of railroad progress in the United States was the period prior to the development of regulation in its manifold modern forms. "Regulation with teeth" had its rise in the early part of the present century. Before that time the railroads were conspicuous as leaders of the country's advancement. They kept not merely abreast but ahead of the nation's needs and had a reserve capacity to take care of boom periods and extraordinary demands.

Since the advent of "toothed" regulation—which really means the transfer of the powers of management to governmental agencies—this condition has been steadily altering and has finally been completely reversed. Today the capacity of the railroads lags behind the nation's needs—checking instead of facilitating general progress. In late years the gap has been increased to a marked degree.

There is only one remedy—to attract more capital into the railroads. There is only one sound way to bring that about—to make railroading a profitable industry once more. Ability to earn profits is the only basis of credit in any business—including the business of railroading.

HARDING MISSED BY NEWS WRITERS

THOSE WHO SOMETIMES GIBED
AT HIM AS WEAK, LATER
LEARNED THEIR MISTAKE.

ALWAYS KINDLY AND TACTFUL

He Recognized the Right of Sharp
Criticism and Did Not Resent It, Because He Knew the "Newspaper Game."

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—The executive business of the government again is being directed from the offices of the White House. Calvin Coolidge is the director-in-chief. Save for a change in chieftains, there is no difference apparent. The government goes on.

In a way the scenes which are enacted in the White House offices immediately after March 4 when new presidents have been inducted into office are being re-enacted. Politicians advise givers and others are thronging to the "presence." They are addressing themselves to a good listener but to one who talks little and who probably thinks much.

Things appear to be the same in the White House offices today; but there is a feeling which is left unexpressed. The attaches of the offices and the newspaper men whose business calls them daily to the White House miss a personality.

Warren G. Harding is gone. There were those of us, newspaper writers in Washington, who doubted firmness of intention, who saw weakness where perhaps there was no weakness, who once and again gibed and scoffed, but who today feel as London Punch felt when Abraham Lincoln died: "Between the mourners at his head and feet,

Say, scurrie jester, is there room for you?"

Washington learned, personally, to love President Harding. Many of the newspaper writers who saw him frequently tried to interpret his motives and his intentions. I fear there was frequent failure. He was a sick man when they did not know it. He never allowed himself to show a sign of weariness when he was very weary. He took misinterpretation like a stoic. No complaint came from him when misrepresented intentionally, but happily there were few such crimes. He recognized the right of sharp criticism. He had been a newspaper man and he knew what is called the game. No man who saw him but came finally to understand. He made political friends of political foes.

How Harding Met Correspondents. Warren G. Harding knew a newspaper story. At times he conducted his conferences with the correspondents as if he were a city editor giving out assignments. Questions prior to the meeting of the conference were submitted to him in writing and it was his duty, if so it may be put, to answer them.

Just before the hour set for the meeting with the correspondents the President would take the questions, which were sent to him on separate sheets, and arrange them, city editor like, in accordance with their news importance. He knew how. More than once the President would say, with a smile of knowing: "This I think may be a first page story," and then he would read the question and give his answer.

Warren G. Harding knew what was due to a president of the United States. He was Warren G. Harding, kindly and willing, but he was also the President. He showed no resentment when the inconsiderate or the tactless asked things which they should not ask; but he gave quick reproof which, however, left no sting. The offender never offended again.

If President Harding's kindness and tact in his intercourse with men had made its impression as an example to be followed on a few of those who were charged with helping to execute the duties of his office, his administration would have made a wider appeal for support.

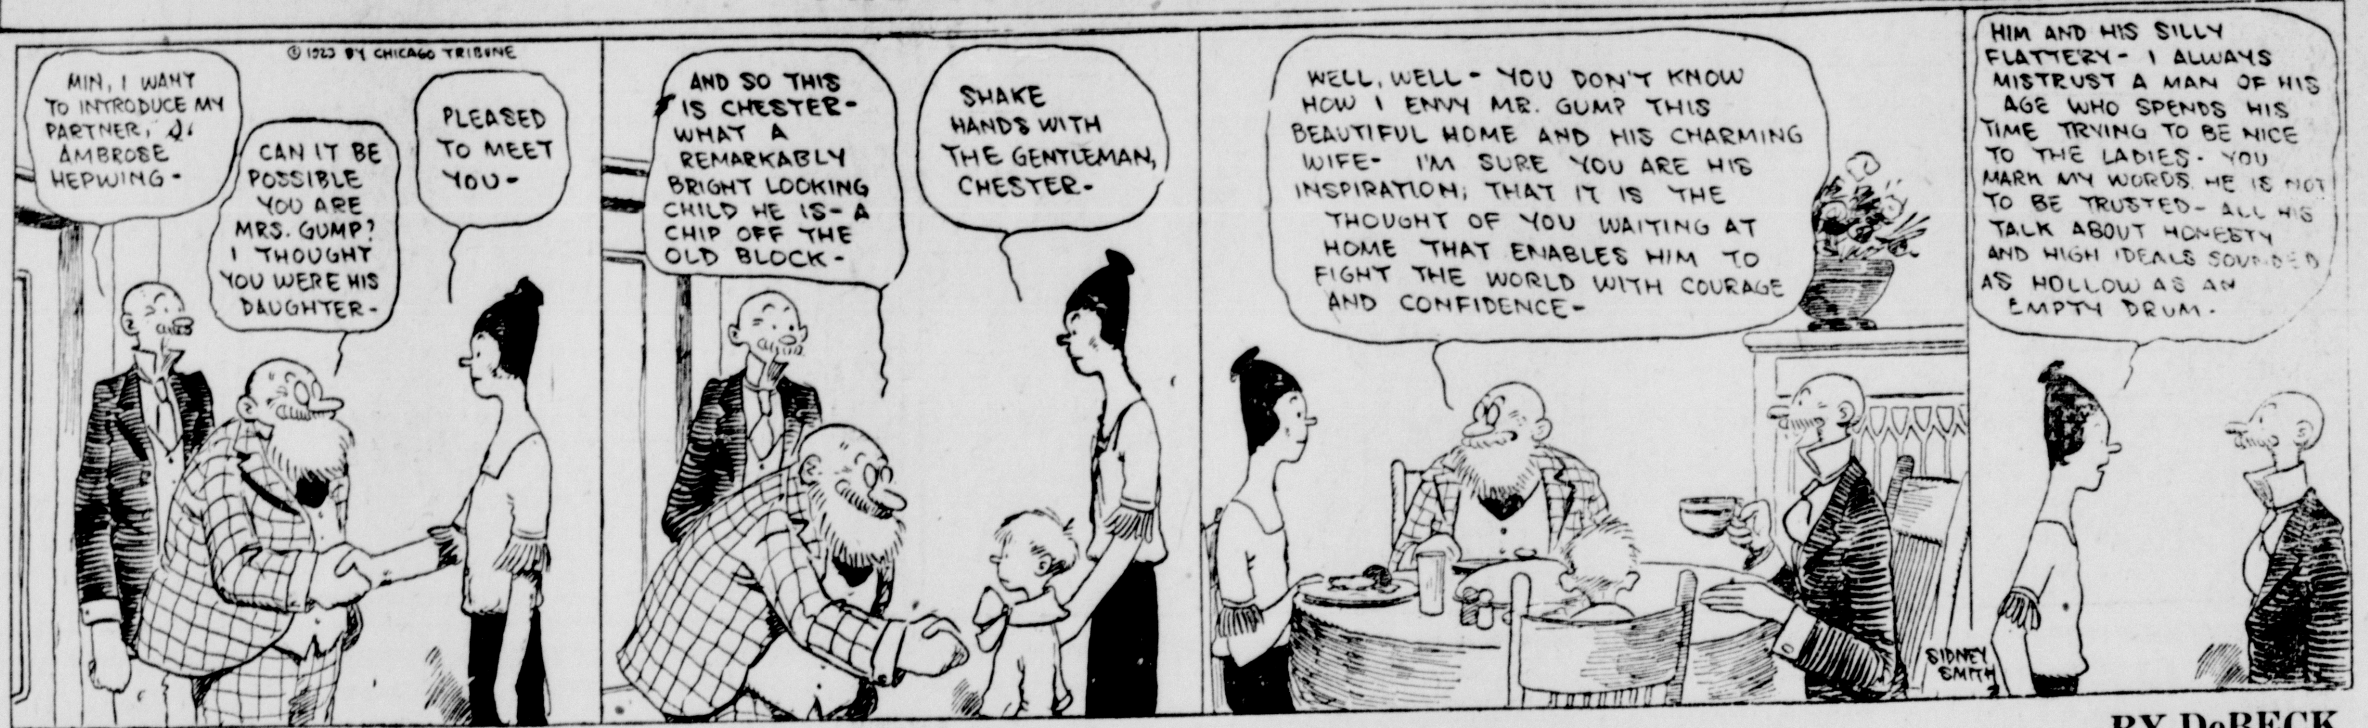

Principle Before Party. Can a man be too kindly? Washington's answer to this probably would be "Yes." It is true probably that the President did not like to offend the chieftains of his party. He was a politician and he knew the value of the beauty of party loyalty. He never, however, showed that he believed party in any case should come before principle.

He did yield in some things perhaps to the importunities of the men who were trying to direct the party course in legislation when that course ran counter to the one which he thought might be better to follow; but when he made up his mind on the one great thing of his administration, he refused to be moved. The politicians brought the hard charge against him that he was accepting a policy of the enemy. He felt that his policy was one of American unselfishness. He was unselfish.

Men who saw Warren G. Harding frequently in the course of their work will miss him. He loved companionship and he found it daily. He even sought it, for such was his way. There will be no cold memories of Harding. The warmth of liking, even of affection, that his personality inspired will last in those who knew him. He knew how to keep friends and the keeping was no effort. It was a natural gift.

"Alice Adams"
When Florence Vidor in "Alice Adams" is presented at the High school auditorium Friday and Saturday, a splendid cast will be seen in support of the beautiful and charming Associated Exhibitor's star. Miss Vidor, of course plays the name role—that of a girl whose sensitive spirit suffers from the snubs of her friends whose fathers have been more successful financially than hers.

Next to Alice Adams, the most important character in the story is that of her father, Virgil Adams, and for this role there could have been no better selection than Claude Gillingwater. Others in the Adams household are Margaret McWade as the nagging whining mother and Harold Goodwin as the swaggering, sporty brother.

Vernon Steel was chosen to supply the romantic interest in the role of Arthur Russell, who was Alice Adams' idea of the "perfect fiancé." J. A. Lamb, Virgil's employer and a particular thorn in the flesh of Mrs. Adams, was entrusted to Thomas Rick Adams. Smaller but important parts, are enacted by Gertrude Astor, Margaret Landis, Taylor Graves, Jay Hunt and others.

FIFTY THOUSAND WOMEN would comprise a vast army, yet that is the number who have replied to a questionnaire recently sent out by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass. Ninety-eight out of every 100 letters from these women contained positive assurances that they have been benefited or restored to health by taking this old-fashioned root and herb medicine. "This is most remarkable evidence of its power over the ills of women. Therefore, with 98 chances out of one hundred that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will overcome such ailments for you, why should you continue to go through life in pain and suffering?"
